

natural avalanche activity, Cooke City

Date

Thu, 12/19/2024 - 11:40

Activity

Snowboarding

Quite a few natural avalanches observed north of Cooke City today. Photos attached of:

1: NE facing, 10,000, Miller Ridge

2: E facing, 9900', Bull of the Woods Pass

3: NE facing, 9700', Miller Ridge

4: E facing, 10,200' Scotch Bonnet Mtn.

5: E facing, 10,000 Mt. Henderson

6-8: NE- N facing, 10,000' Mt. Henderson

9: NE facing, 10,000' Sheep Creek.

There was also a large avalanche event on the E aspect of Fisher Mtn, which I didn't photograph. But there were some other skiers nearby who likely had a good view of it.

Also, we had 4 large collapses today. One on a southerly aspect, and the other 3 on NE aspects. All around 9800'.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

COOKE CITY

Observer Name

B. Fredlund