

This avalanche was triggered by a skier on the adjacent low angle slope on "Town Hill" which is the terrain just above Cooke City. The gully where this avalanche occurred had received a heavy load of wind blown snow. Another avalanche was observed nearby that was triggered by a falling cornice. Photo: B. Fredlund

Advisory Region

Cooke City

Longitude

-109.94W

Latitude

45.02N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Fri Jan 20, 2012GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Sat Jan 21, 2012

Cooke City, 2012-01-20